

Glue Reservoir

Our unique glue drainage port is the only patented system on the market specifically engineered to allow any access glue/adhesive, applied during the installation process, to ooze down and away from the top of our products. This provides the completed area with a nice clean finished look without the burden of glue being tracked onto the newly installed product by un-trained contractors/installers.